FOOD CRISIS MANAGEMENT EVENT

ANALYSIS OF FORMER FOOD CRISIS SITUATIONS, LESSONS LEARNT & BEST CRISIS RESPONSE APPROACHES

2 SEPTEMBER 2020, 12:30 - 16:50

ONLINE EVENT

ESSA, the European Sprouted Seeds Association, in conjunction with Freshfel Europe, the European Fresh Produce Association, are organising a free public event on food crisis management on the 2 September 2020 in Brussels. The event will analyse former as well as hypothetical food crisis situations, the lessons learnt from them and best crisis response approaches.

WHY FOOD CRISIS MANAGEMENT?

Despite the European Union having the strictest regulatory framework in place, food crises still occur and could occur in the future (either due to mismanagement or unexpected risks, such as new pathogens) and good management of such crises is key to protecting consumers and agri-food sectors Europe-wide.

The objective of the event is to provide a platform for agri-associations, food business operators, European Commission officials, representatives of EU national authorities and other stakeholders to gain knowledge through interaction and dialogue on how to respond to European food crises.

THE BEGINNING OF BETTER COLLABORATION

The insights gained from this event will create a starting point for further development structures and coordination within private companies and sectorial associations. ESSA's and Freshfel Europe's long-term vision is to foster cooperation between stakeholders to better manage potential future crises in the agri-food sector with a view to further developing effective crisis strategies and raising awareness of crisis management good practices.
